Fund commentary

In addition to the moderation of inflation in different regions, US economic growth has moderated and payrolls are lower than expected, which is why the Fed is going to begin an easing cycle. Initially, the reaction of risk assets was negative due to the weakness of growth, but the stock markets subsequently recovered the lost ground, albeit with an increase in market volatility.

During the period, the theme with the greatest positive contribution was Future Society, followed by Future Technology and finally Future Planet, which ended in the negative camp. The weight of the main thematic areas was maintained and what was done was a rotation in different sub-themes, highlighting the increase in weight in Internet of Things and the reduction in Cybersecurity; also the increase of weight in Wellness and the reduction in Asian Consumers and finally the increase of weight in Scarcity of Resources financed with the reduction in Foodtech.
